Sendai Aoba Gyoza

Features

The skins of the gyoza are infused with Sendai-grown yukina(snow cabbage), a regional specialty, giving them a vivid green hue inspired by the rich greenery of "Sendai, the City of Trees." The filling is packed with vegetables, offering a healthy, gentle flavor loved by both children and adults.

Certified Retailers

Certified Retailers are establishments certified by Sendai City for serving gyoza that meet the required standards for the volume of locally grown Sendai yukina (snow cabbage) used. Each store offers its own distinctive flavor. Please enjoy the variety.

Yukina (snow cabbage)

Yukina, a member of the Brassicaceae family, is a specialty vegetable of the Sendai region. It is cultivated year-round in Sendai and can be harvested outdoors even during the winter months. The winter variety, known as chijimi yukina, contracts its leaves in response to the cold, enhancing its natural flavor. It is chewy and is commonly boiled or used in stir-fries and stews.
